

Rebecca Ramme Bio

Rebecca Ramme recently retired after a successful 35-year management career in the telecom, high-tech and retail industries based in Northern California. Her executive positions included Vice President of Business Development and of Customer Service as well as consulting roles for both entrepreneurial tech companies and large corporations such as AT&T and Motorola. She brings a collaborative leadership style that focuses on gaining consensus, removing obstacles and providing support for her teams in a way that delivers results.

In addition to corporate roles, she has significant experience organizing and leading volunteer teams. She recruited, assigned, and managed large volunteer crews (up to 150 volunteers per event) at wine competitions, festivals and events in Northern California for over 10 years. Since relocating to Arizona Rebecca has gotten involved with RWOP as a school volunteer and has served as a volunteer golf coach with the Bradshaw Mountain Special Olympics.

In her spare time Rebecca enjoys RV Travel with her husband of 43 years as well as golf, quilting and gardening. She is a proud member of the conservative Talking Rock community in Prescott.
